ACADEMIC PROJECTS

New Jersey Institute of Technology | Newark, NJ

User Experience Hackathon: Hack Van Houten

September 2025 – December 2025

- Awarded 1st place for a semester-long proof-of-concept project designed to improve user experience in wayfinding within the Robert W. Van Houten Library
- Conducted primary user research by developing and distributing surveys to all visitors, analyzing qualitative feedback to identify common pain points in physical library navigation
- Developed the wireframe for an interactive wayfinding application using a BLE beacon location system to assist visitors in finding specific rooms, resources, and collections aisles without requiring a mobile app download or institutional sign in
- Created an infographic and hand-drawn wireframes to present the concept to a panel of library staff and expert judges

User Experience Project: EventGenie

Spring 2025

- Designed an app, utilizing Figma, to facilitate event planning to accommodate dietary restrictions
- Optimized the user event planning experience by analyzing the guest responses to provide recommendations and connect the user with local caterers
- Followed the iterative design process through critiques and peer feedback resulting in an improved product
- Managed group of 3 to gather and analyze data; produce affinity diagrams, empathy maps, and a persona; and develop a medium fidelity prototype
